

iCondomz™ Contest on Facebook®

iCondomz contest on Facebook; featuring iCondomz and Apple® iPod® prizes.

Rockville Centre, New York, February 29, 2008 – iCondomz is running their first of various efforts to build a community of fans. The iCondomz contest on Facebook is, “the first of many events to come,” says Justin Burdi, Chief Marketing Officer of iCondomz.

The contest has been running since February 15th, 2008 and will until March 15th, 2008. iCondomz silicone cases are given away to two winners everyday and iPod nanos will be given away on February 29th and March 15th. To enter the contest all fans need to do is join the iCondomz page on Facebook. Simply search iCondomz and “become a fan” or visit the following link directly:

“The iCondomz fan page on Facebook is a great way to keep in touch with our fans and thank them for supporting us in the beginning of our launch,” says Daniel Burdi, President of iCondomz. “We really appreciate the positive reaction we have received from our contest and thank our fans for their support. The iCondomz fan page will be a great way to update our fans about new products, which everyone should keep a look out for coming soon,” says Daniel.

Beyond updates and prizes, the iCondomz fan page has proven as a great way to communicate directly with iCondomz and voice opinions. Using the iCondomz fan page to stay updated is a great idea for those interested. Stay tuned!
